

Invitation to celebrate Samhain 2011 at Brigid's Well

ANCESTORS, HALLOWE'EN & THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS

SAMHAIN is the ancient Celtic festival that celebrates the mysteries of life, death & resurrection: a time when we are invited to enter into that space between ending & beginning; between light & darkness; between this world & the other world. Our modern culture celebrates it as Hallowe'en. Our Church culture celebrates it as Holy Souls & All Saints. Here is a time to reflect on and celebrate all of this in the light of our own ancestors & their stories.

Friday, 28 October: 10.00 – 1.30pm
(concludes with a light lunch)

Maree Watt facilitator

Marie is an educator with a deep interest in spirituality and its connection with people, land and story. Training in Australia and Rome has given her an understanding of the links between spirituality and psychology, whilst her involvement with Aboriginal people has deepened her appreciation of myth and story and the landscape which evokes them. Marie works privately with individuals as well as with groups in the exploration of the meaning of dreams. She has recently completed training in psycho drama.

Suggested donation: $15 (includes lunch)

Bookings are essential for this reflective celebration
